

The Exodus

Exodus 12:31-51

MEMORY VERSE

EXODUS 15:13

“You in Your mercy have led forth the people whom You have redeemed; you have guided them in Your strength to Your holy habitation.”

WHAT YOU WILL NEED:

Two pieces of bread in a baggy, a candy bar, a hairbrush, a T-shirt, a teddy bear, a photo album, car keys, a small toy, and a Bible.

Two coats, two back-packs, and two sets of keys.

As many square pieces of construction paper as the number of children in your class.

ATTENTION GRABBER!

Run For Your Life

Arrange the following items on a table: two pieces of bread in a baggy, a candy bar, a hairbrush, a T-shirt, a teddy bear, a photo album, car keys, a small toy, and a Bible.

Explain to your class that if they could only run into their homes for one thing to take on a long journey, what would it be? Ask for a couple of volunteers to go and choose and come back. Ask your students why they chose what they chose.

Explain that the children of Israel had to be ready to leave very fast in our lesson today. What kinds of things do you suppose they took with them?

LESSON TIME!

The last few weeks we have learned about the plagues God brought upon the land of Egypt and how and why God instituted the first Passover. Today, we are going to learn about Israel's exodus or liberation from Egypt. We are going to learn that God is Israel's deliverer and God is our deliverer.

Keep in mind that God wrote this book, "The Bible," for you and me and every scripture or Bible study we do has application for our lives. Be thinking, today, about how this applies to your life. Pray that He will help you understand and live the life He wants you to live. After all, He wrote this for you.

EXODUS 12:31-36

Then he (Pharaoh) called for Moses and Aaron by night, and said, "Rise and go out from among my people, both you and the children of Israel. And go, serve the LORD as you have said.

"Also take your flocks and your herds, as you have said, and be gone; and bless me also."

And the Egyptians urged the people, that they might send them out of the land in haste. For they said, "We shall all be dead."

So the people took their dough before it was leavened, having their kneading bowls bound up in their clothes on their shoulders.

Now the children of Israel had done according to the word of Moses, and they had asked from the Egyptians articles of silver, articles of gold, and clothing.

And the LORD had given the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians, so that they granted them what they requested. Thus they plundered the Egyptians.

“Get Ready” Relay

You will need two coats, two back packs, and two sets of keys.

Form two relay teams. Have each racer put on the coat, the backpack and carry the keys from the start line to the wall and back again. They must then change with the next person in line. The first team to accomplish the task wins.

Explain that the children of Israel had to move quickly to flee Egypt in the time the Lord had arranged for them.

After the death of the first born that night, Pharaoh came to Moses and Aaron. This hardened man was broken by the loss of his son. He released the Israelites without restrictions; in fact, he even asked them to leave.

Pharaoh was considered a god in those days. How humbling to come to Moses and Aaron and ask them to leave Egypt. Proverbs 28:14 says, "Happy is the man who is reverent, but he who hardens his heart will fall into calamity." May we be reverent—respecting and heeding the Word of the Lord...may we honor our parents, love one another, and do the things God wants us to do

God predicted that Pharaoh would let the children of Israel go, and His promise came to pass. Pharaoh then asked for God's blessing, not wanting to be put under His curse. The Egyptian people even asked or rather urged the Israelites to leave quickly for fear that they would all die. This happened so quickly that the children of Israel took unleavened bread dough; they did not even have enough time to bake it.

The Egyptians, having seen God's power through the plagues, were now willing to do anything to help the Israelites out of Egypt. They gave them valuable jewelry and clothes. The Bible says the Israelites plundered the Egyptians and that God gave the Israelites favor in the sight of the Egyptians. Could it be they were receiving some of the wages due them for working as slaves for so many years?

God is an awesome deliverer! He always goes before us and makes our paths straight. He provides for us, His children, like a loving father. There is no situation too big for God. Just think, He flung all the stars into heaven! With that unlimited, awesome power, God can deliver us from any situation. May we learn to trust Him fully. God is our deliverer.

EXODUS 12:37-42

Then the children of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besides children.

A mixed multitude went up with them also, and flocks and herds--a great deal of livestock.

And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they had brought out of Egypt; for it was not leavened, because they were driven out of Egypt and could not wait, nor had they prepared provisions for themselves.

Now the sojourn of the children of Israel who lived in Egypt was four hundred and thirty years.

And it came to pass at the end of the four hundred and thirty years--on that very same day--it came to pass that all the armies of the LORD went out from the land of Egypt.

It is a night of solemn observance to the LORD for bringing them out of the land of Egypt. This is that night of the LORD, a solemn observance for all the children of Israel throughout their generations.

The Bible tells us the children of Israel journeyed from Ramses, which is probably where they were most concentrated. The number of Israelite men was 600,000. So, with women and children, they numbered over two million people. The Bible says they were a mixed multitude. That means people of many different races other than Israelites went with them. These were probably Israelites and Egyptians inter-married and others from Egypt, who seeing God's power and recognizing Him as their God also went with them.

There is something interesting in this "mixed multitude." Perhaps some did not want to stay in Egypt for fear of dying. Some brought their "Egyptian" ways with them. In the wilderness, they caused the children of Israel to complain against Moses. We must be careful that those we choose to associate with will not hinder us in our desire to walk with the Lord.

Note that God extended His invitation for salvation to everyone, including the mixed multitude. God is "willing that none should perish, but that all should come to repentance." He delivered the mixed multitude along with the Israelites and was merciful and patient towards them. God is our deliverer.

On the way, the people baked the unleavened bread because they had left Egypt so quickly. The Israelites' time in Egypt had come to an end. Moses reminds us of God's faithfulness to Israel: Israel had been in captivity for 430 years and was now seeing God's promise of deliverance fulfilled. God's Word will always come to pass.

The people were to remember God's deliverance on the night of the exodus, not just for a few days or months, but throughout all generations. God had demonstrated His glorious power and His faithfulness. God wanted them to remember He could deliver them from the most difficult situations, despite the obstacles. They would need to remember this when they entered the Promised Land and had to fight their enemies.

God wants us to know that He can deliver us from any situation. We need to trust Him. We should not forget those times we have seen God's faithfulness, for the memory of His faithfulness will help us when we are once again faced with a difficult situation. God is our deliverer.

EXODUS 12:43-51

And the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "This is the ordinance of the Passover: No outsider shall eat it.

"But every man's servant who is bought for money, when you have circumcised him, then he may eat it.

"A sojourner and a hired servant shall not eat it.

"In one house it shall be eaten; you shall not carry any of the flesh outside the house, nor shall you break one of its bones.

"All the congregation of Israel shall keep it.

"And when a stranger sojourns with you and wants to keep the Passover to the LORD, let all his males be circumcised, and then let him come near and keep it; and he shall be as a native of the land. For no uncircumcised person shall eat it.

"One law shall be for the native-born and for the stranger who sojourns among you."

Thus all the children of Israel did; as the LORD commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

And it came to pass, on that very same day, that the LORD brought the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt according to their armies.

At Succoth, Moses and Aaron were given regulations about celebrating the Passover. The regulations that the Lord gave them were for the Israelites. It was okay for the stranger or sojourner (mixed multitude) to partake, but they had to identify with the true and the living God and His covenant promises. If a man did not identify with the covenant by the right of circumcision, he could not celebrate the Passover. The feast of Passover demonstrated the people's faith and trust in God. It would not make sense for people to partake that did not place their faith in the Lord.

We see that the feast was to be centered in the home and observed by the entire community. This is similar to our worship of the Lord, which should be within our homes and together with our brothers and sisters in church.

Today, the church partakes of communion; it is similar to the Israelites' celebration of Passover. The church celebrates the blood of the Lamb (Jesus) that was shed for us so that we could be delivered from sin--just like the blood of the lamb, placed over the doorposts of the people's homes, protected them from God's judgment on Egypt.

God is our deliverer. He has delivered us from the consequences of sin through His Son Jesus—the perfect Lamb of God. He is able to deliver us from any situation, no matter how difficult.

Paper Airplanes

Pass out a square piece of construction paper to each student. Have them follow your verbal instructions very carefully. Tell them that they need to follow your instructions perfectly to make the next project you have for them. Verbally give them step by step instructions on building a paper airplane. Inspect their work when they are done. Did they follow instructions well?

When they are all done, each student should have a paper airplane. Explain that God had given very specific instructions to the children of Israel so they would succeed with His will for them.

PRAYER

Lead the children in a prayer of thanksgiving for the Lamb of God who has delivered them from their Jesus. If there are any children who have not yet responded to the Gospel, give them opportunity to do so.
